The EVIS X1™ endoscopy system introduces a range of new technologies that aim to revolutionize the way physicians can detect, characterize and treat gastrointestinal and interoperative disorders. We want to support every endoscopist, in every procedure, every day.

Redefine What's Possible.

Scan the QR code or visit Olympus at NYSGE to learn more.

The EVIS X1 endoscopy system is not designed for cardiac applications. Other combinations of equipment may cause ventricular fibrillation or seriously affect the cardiac function of the patient. Improper use of endoscopes may result in patient injury, bleeding, and/or perforation. Complete indications, contraindications, warnings, and cautions are available in the Instructions for Use (IFU).

TXI™ and RDI™ technologies are not intended to replace histopathological sampling as a means of diagnosis.

Welcome

NYSGE
New York Society
for Gastroenterology and Endoscopy

Dear Colleagues and NYSGE Members,

On behalf of the NYSGE Governing Council and Course Directors, Drs. David Greenwald, Alexandra Guillaume, and Amrita Sethi, it is my distinct pleasure to welcome you to the 47th Annual New York Course; Shifting to High Gear: Innovations and New Perspectives in Gastroenterology and Endoscopy. Once again, we look forward to presenting you with the state of the art in gastroenterology and endoscopy.

Our field is ever-expanding, and as such, we have added several new sessions to reflect the latest changes in our profession. Just to name a few, a session entitled Shifting our Focus—Digital Empowerment, will delve into AI and how it affects our daily practice. Also, the latest in the management of GI bleeding will be reviewed in the session titled Changing the Course of GI Bleeding. We are thrilled to be able to continue to bring you LIVE Endoscopy Case Presentations, now directly from two of our esteemed NYC institutions. We are also excited to have added an International LIVE Endoscopy Presentation by Dr. Alessandro Repici of the Humanitas Research Hospital straight from Milan, Italy. Our expert panels will highlight didactic portions of our live endoscopy presentations while reflecting on the latest research and advancements in endoscopic techniques in gastroenterology and endoscopy. We encourage maximal interaction from our audience with our live endoscopists and expert panel.

In addition to the main course, we are honored to host the Doris C. Barnie GI Nurses and Associates Course. Sessions include Esophageal Disorders: Top to Bottom, Malignant Hyperthermia, and Scope Processing, in addition to many other highlights over the two-day course. The New York GI Fellows Endoscopy Course will include Hands-On Training, Endoscopic Hepatology, and a Panel Discussion on Career Guidance, in addition to a job fair and many more learning experiences during this course. Among our invited titled lectures, Dr. Satish Nagula will present the Sid Winawer Lecture, Periendoscopic Management of Weight Loss and Diabetes Medications and the David Falkenstein Lecture will be presented by Dr. Lawrence Brandt on Colonic Ischemia.

I look forward to seeing you at the NYSGE President's Lecture on Retroflexions in Gastrointestinal Endoscopy: Looking Back Only to Go Forward and at the ACG Presidential Lecture on Incomplete Colonoscopy presented by Dr. Jonathan A. Leighton. This year we have brought back Hands-On Training and I encourage all of you to visit these stations to enhance your endoscopic skills.

Along with the course directors and the NYSGE governing council, we are so glad you have joined us this year at the Marriott Marquis for the 47th NYSGE Annual Course. We would like to extend a special thank you to all our industry partners for their unwavering support of this course. We hope you enjoy this year's course and that your connections and learning experience is second to none!

Kind Regards

Juan Carlos Bucobo, MD, NYSGE President

EXALT™ Model D
Single-Use Duodenoscope

Adoption of single-use duodenoscopes is gaining traction and the reasons are clear.

- Eliminate the risk of patient-to-patient infection due to ineffective reprocessing.
- Avoid hidden costs associated with reprocessing.*
- Create efficiencies by having an always available – ready for nights and weekends duodenoscope – at your disposal.

Just a few of the benefits of EXALT Model D.

One patient.
One duodenoscope.
One essential step forward in endoscopic care.

Learn how EXALT Model D can become a part of your everyday ERCP practice.

*Assumes full conversion of all procedures using reusable duodenoscopes to instead using the EXALT Model D duodenoscopes.

WARNINGS AND PRECAUTIONS

Hypersensitivity: Hypersensitivity reactions, including anaphylaxis, serum sickness or serum sickness-like reactions, angioedema, generalized urticaria, rash, erythema nodosum, and erythema multiforme have been reported. If a clinically significant hypersensitivity reaction occurs, institute appropriate therapy and discontinue DUPIXENT.

Acute Asthma Symptoms or Deteriorating Disease: Do not use DUPIXENT to treat acute asthma symptoms, acute exacerbations, acute bronchospasm or status asthmaticus. Patients should seek medical advice if their asthma remains uncontrolled or worsens after initiation of DUPIXENT.

Risk Associated with Abrupt Reduction of Corticosteroid Dosage: Do not discontinue systemic, topical, or inhaled corticosteroids abruptly upon initiation of DUPIXENT. Reductions in corticosteroid dose, if appropriate, should be gradual and performed under the direct supervision of a healthcare provider. Reduction in corticosteroid dose may be associated with systemic withdrawal symptoms and/or unmask conditions previously suppressed by systemic corticosteroid therapy.

Patients with Co-morbid Asthma: Advise patients with co-morbid asthma not to adjust or stop their asthma treatments without consultation with their physicians.

Arthralgia: Arthralgia has been reported with the use of DUPIXENT with some patients reporting gait disturbances or decreased mobility associated with joint symptoms; some cases resulted in hospitalization. Advise patients to report new onset or worsening joint symptoms. If symptoms persist or worsen, consider rheumatological evaluation and/or discontinuation of DUPIXENT.

Parasitic (Helminth) Infections: It is unknown if DUPIXENT will influence the immune response against helminth infections. Treat patients with pre-existing helminth infections before initiating therapy with DUPIXENT. If patients become infected while receiving treatment with DUPIXENT and do not respond to anti-helminth treatment, discontinue treatment with DUPIXENT until the infection resolves.

Vaccinations: Consider completing all age-appropriate vaccinations as recommended by current immunization guidelines prior to initiating DUPIXENT. Avoid use of live vaccines in patients treated with DUPIXENT.

ADVERSE REACTIONS: The most common adverse reactions (incidence ≥2%) are injection site reactions, upper respiratory tract infections, arthralgia, and herpes viral infections.

USE IN SPECIFIC POPULATIONS

- Pregnancy: A pregnancy exposure registry monitors pregnancy outcomes in women exposed to DUPIXENT during pregnancy. To enroll or obtain information call 1-877-311-8972 or go to https://mothertobaby.org/ongoing-study/dupixent/. Available data from case reports and case series with DUPIXENT use in pregnant women have not identified a drug-associated risk of major birth defects, miscarriage or adverse maternal or fetal outcomes. Human IgG antibodies are known to cross the placental barrier; therefore, DUPIXENT may be transmitted from the mother to the developing fetus.
- Lactation: There are no data on the presence of DUPIXENT in human milk, the effects on the breastfed infant, or the effects on milk production. Maternal IgG is known to be present in human milk. The developmental and health benefits of breastfeeding should be considered along with the mother's clinical need for DUPIXENT and any potential adverse effects on the breastfed child from DUPIXENT or from the underlying maternal condition.
