Established in 1988 under the leadership of then-NYSGE President Dr. Jean Saleh, the GI Summer Fellows Course was created to provide first-year gastroenterology fellows with an introduction to endoscopic techniques and the clinical management of digestive diseases.

For nearly 40 years, the course has remained a cornerstone of NYSGE's educational mission, helping fellows build a strong foundation for successful careers in gastroenterology.

The course proudly bears Dr. Saleh's name in recognition of his vision, leadership, and lasting commitment to trainee education.
